Building a scamp is not impossibly difficult but I don't think it's a beginner's boat either. The building method is a combination of stitch and glue reinforced with wood backing at the seams. There are many bulkheads and interior partitions for the various flotation chambers which provide great rigidity to the boat.

Building A SCAMP Sailboat - Christine DeMerchant

Although SCAMP wasn't designed specifically with kids in mind, we think she would make an ideal exploration boat for young sailors-safe, capable and easily handled. We intend to donate a set of plans to any formal organization or school looking to build a SCAMP for this purpose.

The Scamp is a seaworthy 12' sailboat that can handle a good dose of adventure. Just under 12 feet in length, Scamp boasts an unusual combination of features that give her the unique ability to explore waters too shallow for a larger boat, while retaining most of the bigger boat's comforts and capabilities.
